

Hey there GraceKids families,

We are going to miss you and your kids so much over the next two weekends. We will be praying that you will all remain in good health and we want to equip you to continue learning about forgiveness and following Jesus as we have been so far this March.

We want to share some resources with you and your family to engage with our lessons together at home. The first is a link to the worship and Bible story videos we would have shared in GraceKids Jr and GraceKids.

The second resource is a link to all the GodTime cards we are using to distribute on the weekend. These have great ideas, games, and Scriptures to guide family times of fun in God's Word. The third and final resource is a list of articles and podcasts to help you parent through these uncertain times. Many of our kids are coming home from school with worry, fear, and misinformation. Each resource gives parents language, questions, and approaches to handling these tricky days ahead.

Be well and stay safe. We will see you soon.

In Christ,
The GraceKids Team
